

Asia-Pacific Economic Integration

Regional Economic Integration and the Role of the US and Japan

Attend the Asia-Pacific Economic Integration Conference organized by JETRO Los Angeles and the office of Los Angeles City Mayor Eric Garcetti this coming June 12th at the Millenium Biltmore Hotel from 1-5pm in downtown Los Angeles.

Our keynote speaker Mr. Hiroyuki Ishige, Chairman of JETRO and panel discussion members drawn from academia and the private sector will provide an overview and insight into the regional economic integration of Asian economies and Japan's role as gateway to these markets. This conference will focus on recent issues such as the Trans Pacific Partnership (TPP) negotiations as well as the economic perspectives from major economies in Asia such as Singapore, China, Japan and other ASEAN countries.

We will also feature speakers from companies who have successfully exported their products overseas so attendees can gain valuable information on how to access the Japanese and Asian markets.

The conference is co-sponsored by JETRO and the office of Los Angeles City Mayor Eric Garcetti. Please register at laapeic.eventbrite.com and join us for this unique opportunity to expand your business and increase your knowledge of pertinent issues affecting Japan, the U.S. and other Asian economies.
