Our Heroes: Building Together a New Hawaii
Produced by Nitto Tire U.S.A. Inc.

This is a tribute to the unsung heroes of Hawaii, the individuals who had the courage to stand up for what they believed in, who did not falter beneath the pressures of the government. The actions of these heroes protected the Japanese Americans in Hawaii from internment and eventually propelled them into the political forefront. Together they made many sweeping social, educational and political changes that helped to build a new Hawaii.

TOP: John A. Burns & George Ariyoshi, former Governors of Hawaii
MIDDLE: James Burns (son of John A. Burns)
BOTTOM: George Ariyoshi, former Governor of Hawaii
Growing up, I always looked outside the family for role models as well, and that’s just what kids do. So, I think the most important thing is trying to be a good person every day, that’s number one. But in terms of the Japanese American side of things, there is value in telling the story, and it brings out so many issues of tolerance and acceptance, and wanting to fight for the right things. To me there is a lot of value in that. And everywhere I go the story kind of gets retold and I get traded to Dallas, or I go to New Orleans, or Kansas City, everybody says “what’s that last name?” Let’s talk about it a little bit. Some people might get worn out about the story. There is value in repeating the story, because young kids at home may hear all about those things for the first time. So, if that makes me a positive role model for them, then I absolutely embrace that responsibility. And to be able to frame those conversations in a way, with the actual element in American history, where there was a huge case of racial prejudice and wide spread hysteria, post Pearl Harbor that people had never heard about before, there is tremendous value in hearing that. So, to me that’s why I continue telling the story.

I have this one idea of “Go For Broke,” that’s my grandfather who was an ambitious guy. And then on the other hand, it’s “shikataganai” the idea of, hey there is nothing you can do about it, just make the best of it. So, I kind of grew up with two sort of conflicting philosophies.

I gotta be honest, growing up I think I probably had more of that “Go For Broke” mentality where I had this incredible chip on my shoulder, I was upset that no one stood up for my family at that time. How can you just sit back and let this happen to you?

But when you talk to someone like my grandmother, she said “I was trying to make the best of the situation.” And she was incredibly forgiving, and I’m glad to be able to absorb that into my own life. And I feel like as I age, as I matured, you know as much as I try to be out front, try to fight for this cause and that cause. As I age and have children now, I find myself, really trying to be more like my grandmother. It’s a funny thing to say that, after wanting to fight, fight, fight, for years and years. But she always seemed at peace, and there’s something very special about that.

Honoring

Tomo Mizutani
President, Toyo Tire Holdings of Americas Inc.

Nitto Tire U.S.A. Inc. is a Japanese success story in the United States. Under Tomo Mizutani’s leadership, the company’s revenues have increased three-fold and the tire units more than doubled. While still catering to the car enthusiasts who helped establish the brand, Mizutani has led Nitto’s award winning marketing efforts, expanding the brand and garnering 6 million Facebook fans. Mizutani has also served as a leader in U.S.-based corporate social responsibility through Nitto’s support of the Japan America Society and other important Japanese American and Japanese American veteran organizations.
On March 11, 2011, two Americans participating in the JET Programme as assistant English language teachers lost their lives during the Great East Japan Earthquake and Tsunami.

Taylor Anderson, who was in Ishinomaki City, and Montgomery Dickson, who was in Rikuzentakata City, will be forever remembered as cultural ambassadors representing the United States. They had a positive influence on the people and communities they served.

Welcome

On behalf of the board of directors, board of governors, staff and volunteers of the Japan America Society of Southern California, we warmly welcome you to our 105th Anniversary Dinner & Gala Celebration. We also extend our deep appreciation to all of our sponsors and supporters, especially our Presenting Sponsor,Nitto Tire U.S.A. Inc. Thank you for making this evening possible.

We are pleased to honor Nitto Tire U.S.A. Inc. tonight with our Kokusai Shimin Sho “International Citizens Award”. Accepting the award is Tomo Mizutani, president of Toyo Tire Holdings of Americas Inc. Mizutani has led the Nitto brand in the U.S. since 1992 and has served as president of Nitto Tire U.S.A. from 2005 to 2013.

Nitto Tire U.S.A. Inc. is a Japanese success story in the United States. Under Mizutani’s leadership, the company’s revenues have increased three-fold and the sales of tire units have more than doubled. While still catering to the car enthusiasts who helped establish the brand, Mizutani has led Nitto’s award winning marketing efforts, expanding the brand and garnering 6 million Facebook fans. Mizutani has also served as a leader in U.S.-based corporate social responsibility through Nitto’s support of the Japan America Society of Southern California and other important Japanese American and Japanese American veteran organizations.

We are also pleased to honor Taylor Anderson and Montgomery Dickson, Japan Exchange and Teaching (JET) Programme assistant language teachers. Accepting the award on behalf of Taylor Anderson will be her parents, Jean and Andy Anderson, and sister Julia Anderson Kerr. Accepting the award on behalf of Montgomery Dickson will be his brother, Ian Dickson, sister Shelley Fredrickson, and Shelley’s son, Colton Button.

On March 11, 2011, Taylor Anderson and Montgomery Dickson lost their lives during the Great East Japan Earthquake and Tsunami. Taylor Anderson, who was in Ishinomaki City, and Montgomery Dickson, who was in Rikuzentakata City, will be forever remembered as cultural ambassadors representing the United States. They had a positive influence on the people and communities they served.

The past year has been one of the Society’s most successful to date, as well as one of the busiest.

One of the many highlights of 2013 was our involvement with a grant from the TOMODACHI-NAJAS Grassroots Exchange Program. This two-year grant provides for two delegations of eight children and one chaperone from Fukushima Aiikuen (FA) children’s home (“orphanage”) to visit Los Angeles for a ten-day exchange. The grant is made possible by the TOMODACHI initiative, a public-private partnership led by the U.S. Government and the U.S.-Japan Council and supported by the Japanese Government. With the generosity of the TOMODACHI-NAJAS grant, made possible by donations from Hitachi, Ltd., Mitsubishi Corporation and Toyota Motor Corporation, the children from FA enjoyed a life-changing visit to Los Angeles last July. This year’s exchange promises to expand on last year’s success.

In late 2012, the Society won a generous three-year “JAS Initiative” capacity-building grant from the Japan Foundation CGP (Center for Global Partnership). The membership committee has kicked off a two-year membership campaign with the goal of increasing membership by 50%. The result will be increased opportunities for the Society to promote Japan and the U.S.-Japan relationship to the 22 million people of Southern California.

The Society’s board of directors continues to diligently manage the 2011 Japan Relief Fund. After the March 11, 2011 Great East Japan Earthquake and Tsunami, the Society immediately served in a leadership role as a trusted information source, and established its disaster relief fund. Thanks to your unprecedented and heartfelt support, we have raised $1.5 million, an amount recognized as one of the most successful U.S.-based relief fundraising efforts for Japan. The 2011 Japan Relief Fund is now assisting with long-term recovery in the devastated areas of Tohoku.

We thank the Anniversary Dinner Committee and the Society’s staff, who began working on this evening’s program last year. We also thank you for your participation tonight, which has allowed us to reach the goals set by the Committee. Your generous contributions and support are imperative for the Society to continue its important work of building relationships between Japanese and Americans.

Please enjoy the evening!

Sincerely,

Terry S. Hara, Chairman

Asuka Naito is a trilingual radio host, voice over actor and professional dancer, who bridges businesses between Japan and the US. Her multi-cultural upbringing and unique background has landed her many emcee and hosting gigs for charities and corporations in Japan and the US. Ms. Naito’s popular primetime radio show, “Morning Live” at 79.5FM RADIO-I, was aired in Chubu-area in Japan, and currently she hosts inflight audio programs for Singapore Airlines and China Airlines. Her enthusiastic energy and gracious demeanor is a welcome addition to the Japan American Society of Southern California.
Jeffrey Shimamoto is an entrepreneur, lawyer, musician and entertainer, as well as a member of the Board of Directors of the Japan America Society of Southern California. He is a loyal husband to his wife Miho and a loving father to his two daughters Jade and Ruby. While serving on the Board of Governors of the American Chamber of Commerce in Japan, Mr. Shimamoto served as emcee and auctioneer for its annual Charity Ball. His high energy personality and friendly demeanor will surely keep you engaged in the evening’s festivities.
The students performing tonight come from around the world to study in the Colburn Conservatory of Music. They are among the 10% of applicants admitted following an intense and extremely selective audition process that includes performance, testing and interviews. International guest teachers, performers and conductors continue to enhance the work of our stellar faculty in developing our students into mature artists. Upon completing their programs at Colburn, Conservatory students go on to win positions in major symphony orchestras and to be admitted to advanced performance programs at conservatories and universities in the U.S. and abroad. Opened in 2003, the Colburn Conservatory provides full financial scholarships, including tuition, room and board for highly talented college-age students pursuing the most rigorous classical instrumental music performance training. Programs include the Bachelor of Music degree, Performance Diploma, Professional Studies Certificate, Artist Diploma, and the Master of Music degree.
With a voice “supple as silk and smooth as cashmere” (JazzNews), and “mesmerizing, whether in English, Japanese, French” (GirlSingers.org), Allison Adams Tucker creates a unique montage of jazz-driven melodies and rhythms in six languages that is turning heads. From Brazilian to straight ahead, French chansons to Mediterranean and beyond—“expect the unexpected.” (Scott Yanow, LA Jazz Scene)

Born in San Diego, California, multi-lingual jazz vocalist Allison Adams Tucker began singing before she could speak. Allison was raised by classically trained musical parents, and began performing in front of audiences at age 5. She studied piano, flute, violin, dance and voice from elementary school and holds a BA in Linguistics / Music Vocal Performance and an AA in Italian. Allison’s vocal palette has been colored by her experience in a variety of musical genres throughout her life, from punk rock to Elizabethan a cappella. These experiences led her on a natural and steadfast transition to the world of jazz in 2005.

Allison’s love for languages and world cultures also began at a young age, and she has studied and sings in 6 languages besides her own. She has lived in Japan and Spain and has traveled to over 15 countries. This “wanderlust” is evident in the music she chooses today. Her music reflects her passion for world cultures with rhythms, melodies, and lyrics of Brazil, Italy, France, Latin America, Japan, and the US.

Allison’s debut CD “Come With Me” (Allegato Music, July 2008), co-produced by jazz guitarist Peter Sprague (Dianne Reeves, David Benoit, Chick Corea, Sergio Mendes) and arranged by Kamau Kenyatta (Gregory Porter, Hubert Laws, Earl Klugh, Patti Austin), received international acclaim, was nominated for Best Jazz Album 2009 by the San Diego Music Awards, and continues to receive airplay on radio stations in 18 countries.

Allison’s sophomore CD “April in Paris”, celebrating songs of springtime from around the world, was recorded in Paris on UNESCO’s 1st Annual International Jazz Day at the end of a 9-concert tour through Italy & France. Arrangers for this album include Kamau Kenyatta, Danny Green, Emmanuel Massarotti, and Jovino Santos Neto. “April in Paris” is scheduled for release on June 3, 2014.

Allison’s voice can be heard on national commercials and video games, and her interpretation of “La Vie En Rose” is one of the top downloads on iTunes, Pandora, and Spotify worldwide.

As an international artist, Allison has entertained audiences in Japan, Europe, Mexico, and the US, including performances on local and national television, on radio stations, and in festivals and jazz clubs. Allison has shared festival billing and musical collaborations with jazz greats such as Kenny Burrell, Poncho Sanchez, Ivan Lins, Mindy Abair, Pete Escoveda, Sheila E, Tommy Campbell, Gene Jackson, Mirko Guerrini, Toku (Japan Sony Music) and Ken Ota (Japan Universal Jazz), among others.

It is my great pleasure to help mark another anniversary of the Japan America Society of Southern California – its 105th – and to offer on this occasion my sincere congratulations. Now that I have come to know Southern California over the course of three years in Los Angeles, I have seen with my own eyes how the Japan America Society, its members, supporters and leaders are vital contributors to the deep and lasting friendship between Japan and the United States.

I also wish to acknowledge those who are being honored as this year’s recipients of the Kokusai Shimin Sho, or “International Citizens Award.” I extend my heartfelt appreciation and congratulations to Tomo Mizutani, President of Toyo Tire Holdings of Americas Inc. Having suffered production disruptions at its factory in Sendai from the Great East Japan Earthquake and tsunami of 2011, Toyo’s determination to rebound can be an encouragement to the business community. I also extend my appreciation to the families and friends of Ms. Taylor Anderson and Mr. Montgomery “Monty” Dickson for their support of the legacy of their loved ones. Taylor and Monty were both serving on the Japan Exchange and Teaching Program as Assistant Language Teachers in 2011 when they lost their lives in the disasters. They both cared for Japan and for their students in ways that inspire many others whose hearts join our countries together.

The second century of the Japan America Society of Southern California is well underway. It started quite early with response to the disasters and support through the ongoing 2011 Japan Relief Fund. It continues with events like this Gala to show that those who are rebuilding their lives and towns have not been forgotten. And, just as important, it carries on through the year with fun, educational, and networking events which nurture strong grassroots participation in the Japan-U.S. relationship. On behalf of the Consulate General of Japan in Los Angeles, I extend my sincere thanks to the Society and its supporters and look forward to working together in many ways in the future.

Sincerely,

Jun Niimi
Consul General of Japan

Gardena, California 90248

Dear Friends:

It gives me great pleasure to extend my warmest greetings to all who have gathered for the Japan America Society of Southern California’s 105th Anniversary Dinner and Gala Celebration.

Since its inception, the Japan America Society of Southern California has devoted itself to strengthening America’s relationship with Japan. Its commitment to improving both business and cultural awareness through training, programs, and community events is truly commendable. There is no doubt that its efforts to improve economic, cultural and government ties between the two nations will continue to benefit citizens of both countries for many years to come.

I would also like to take this opportunity to recognize tonight’s distinguished honorees: Tomo Mizutani, recipient of the Kokusai Shimin Sho “International Citizens Award”; Nitto Tire U.S.A Inc, 105th Anniversary Dinner presenting sponsor and special honoree; and Taylor Anderson and Montgomery Dickson. Each of these honorees’ dedication to the mission of the Japan American Society of Southern California is truly praiseworthy.

As your United States Senator representing the State of California, I commend the Japan America Society of Southern California and tonight’s honorees for their extraordinary contributions. Please accept my best wishes for a most memorable and enjoyable event.

With warmest personal regards.

Sincerely yours,

Dianne Feinstein
United States Senator
OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR

June 17, 2014

Japan America Society of Southern California

It is an honor to greet everyone who has come together for your 105th Anniversary Dinner and Gala Celebration.

I applaud the Japan America Society of Southern California's efforts to support United States-Japan partnerships and their contributions to our Golden State. California is proud to be home to a vibrant mix of cultures, and your achievements add to this diversity and enrich our communities.

I would also like to recognize tonight's honoree: Nitto Tire U.S.A. Recognized for their contributions to the U.S.-Japan relationship through business, technological contributions, corporate social responsibility and support for educational programs in the United States, they are receiving the Kokusai Shimin Sho “International Citizens Award.” Thank you for your dedication.

Please accept my best wishes for a memorable event and every future success.

Sincerely,

EDMUND G. BROWN JR.

105th Anniversary Dinner & Gala Celebration

June 17, 2014

Congratulations to the Japan America Society of Southern California on the occasion of its 105th Anniversary Dinner & Gala Celebration.

For more than 100 years, the Japan America Society of Southern California has been dedicated to building and broadening economic, cultural and government relations between Japan and the United States. The organization’s commitment to increasing cultural relations throughout Los Angeles County is noteworthy and to be applauded.

I am also proud to join the Japan America Society of Southern California in saluting 2014 honorees: Nitto Tire U.S.A. Inc., Tomo Mizutani, Taylor Anderson and Montgomery Dickson. Their dedication to fulfilling the mission of the Japan America Society of Southern California is commendable.

On behalf of the more than 10 million people who reside in the County of Los Angeles and the members of the Board of Supervisors, I extend my best wishes for continued success and a most memorable event.

With hope,

Mark Ridley-Thomas
Supervisor, Second District
GREETINGS FROM THE CITY OF GARDENA !!
As Mayor, it is my pleasure to extend congratulations to the

JAPAN AMERICA SOCIETY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA
in official recognition of your
105th Anniversary
Dinner and Gala Celebration
Tuesday, June 17, 2014.

The City of Gardena gives honor and praise for the steadfast commitment of those who began this society, and for all who have given so unselfishly throughout the years to help this fine organization to grow and thrive.

We also extend words of genuine appreciation to President Douglas G. Erber, to the many current corporate benefactors and members, and to their countless predecessors for providing dedicated leadership within the Japan America Society.

Gardena and its citizens are pleased to offer a warm welcome to the South Bay area and know that we will benefit from the valuable stimulus and growth that your leaders will bring to our community, as has been demonstrated throughout the past 105 years.

Please accept my personal best wishes, as well as those of my Council colleagues, for a most memorable anniversary legacy commemoration.

Respectfully,

PAUL K. TANAKA
Mayor

This film is a story about Taylor Anderson and all the young people who travel the world trying to make a difference. Taylor was an extraordinary American who dedicated herself to teaching Japanese children, living her dream right up to the events of March 11, 2011.

“A beautiful film portrait of a beautiful personality and of a life beautifully lived. … The story of Taylor Anderson transcends all borders and all cultures, revealing that the generosity of spirit of a truly good person continues to give and give and give…” — Peter Grilli, President Emeritus, Japan Society of Boston

"I was greatly moved by your wonderful, inspirational film celebrating the life of Taylor….I think it will become a common asset for those people who would become future bridges” — Ichiro Fujisaki, Former Ambassador of Japan

“The story of one person, just a young American who came to teach English in Japan, encompasses both grief and hope. This film should be seen by both Japanese and Americans: to use a word that should not be used lightly, it is redemptive. You will keep the images in this film, of a happy positive girl and devastation impossible to understand, in your mind for a long time.” — Dr. Merry White, Boston University

If you are searching for inspiration and hope amidst geographical, national, and personal tragedy, you will be richly rewarded with Live Your Dream: The Taylor Anderson Story. — David Huebner, Education About Asia

Japan Bowl® of California

Japan Bowl® of California is a Japanese language and culture competition for high school students. Initiated in 1992 by the Japan America Society of Washington D.C., Japan Bowl® focuses on the knowledge of “Japan, the country,” rather than simply the language itself.

With guidance from JASWDC, the Japan America Society of Southern California hosted the 2nd Annual Japan Bowl® of Southern California on March 1, 2014, to provide opportunities for high school students to test their knowledge, skills, and show their passion for Japan.

As a grand prize, JASSC funded the winners of Level 4, Lowell High School of San Francisco, CA to compete in the National Japan Bowl® held in Washington DC, representing California. We are happy to announce Lowell High School took 1st place for Level 4 at the National Japan Bowl®!

We thank our major sponsors, Union Bank, N.A. and Hitachi, Ltd., and our sponsors, the Japan Business Association of Southern California, Study & Intern in Okinawa, Nishiyamato Academy, Fujitsu Frontech North America, International Christian University (Tokyo), Temple University Japan Campus and the Bellarmine College of Liberal Arts at Loyola Marymount University.

Students currently enrolled in Japanese language classes at a high school in California are eligible to compete in the Japan Bowl® of California. The 3rd Annual Japan Bowl® of California will be held in spring 2015.

For more information, please contact Kay Amano, Programs Director at (310) 965-9050, ext. 104 or at amano@jas-socal.org or visit www.jas-socal.org/JapanBowl
