

Trends and Major Concerns for Employers

MARK WILBUR
President & CEO
Employers Group

As the global economy slowly recovers from a pronounced recession, it is now time for Japanese and American businesses to focus their workforce planning efforts on hiring and retaining top talent, reducing the cost of benefits, and remaining compliant with the ever-changing laws enforced by government control agencies. Mark Wilbur has led Employers Group for over five years, keeping a pulse on business needs and necessary changes to remain successful and thriving through a tumultuous economic landscape.

Established in 1896, Employers Group is the leading source for intelligent business, HR solutions, and employer advocacy, helping thousands of employers across the country - and around the world.
